

Meredith Marshall - BRP Companies

Meredith Marshall, co-founder and Managing Partner of BRP Companies, is a welcomed newcomer to NYSFAFH's Board of Directors, bringing years of experience in quality development to the New York City area. He joined NYSFAFH to increase his participation in policy advocacy, MWBE outreach and to gain greater access to public officials and other local stakeholders. Meredith believes NYSFAFH is a productive, well-informed group that has its finger on the pulse of upcoming legislative initiatives that affect the affordable housing industry.

"NYSFAFH is a necessary link between elected officials, government agencies, and our diverse membership," said Meredith. "Even in today's economic environment, we find the challenge is communicating that our work goes far beyond the bottom line. We're solving problems in a resource constraining environment – it's not just economic, it's about doing good, and that's the message NYSFAFH is sending to lawmakers and beyond."

BRP takes pride in its quality sustainable housing and commercial developments, in particular, its number of strategic partnerships with leading financial institutions, agencies, non-profits, and faith-based organizations. Co-Founded with Geoff Flournoy in 1998 as a modest local development company, the firm includes a vertically integrated structure with 30 experienced staff, responsible for over 400,000 square feet of development and construction with another 800,000 square feet on the horizon. BRP projects have received acclaim from national leading outlets, like The New York Times coverage in 2010 of BRP's renovation of Graham Condominiums in Brooklyn.
